Turkish Delight (Lokum) About

A Bite! New Mood!

One of the oldest sweets in the world, going back almost 500 years, the Turkish Delight (lokum in Turkish) recipe has remained almost unchanged since the day of its inception. Turkish Delight in Turkish is called Lokum word comes from the Arabic phrase rahat ul hulkum meaning comfortable morsel or rest and soothing for the throat.

According to legend, the first Turkish delight recipe was actually created when an Ottoman Sultan ordered his confectioner to create a unique sweet. It was through this summon that the Turkish Delight was born and quickly became a fashionable gift, wrapped in special lace handkerchiefs.

With Sultans and daily feasts as a thing of the past, nowadays, Turkish Delight is kept hidden somewhere in the kitchen, ready to be served with a cup of coffee to the most valued of guest, as a delightful sign of welcome.

Lokum was introduced to Europe via an unidentified English voyager who simply labelled them on boxes with the words Turkish Delight.
